

Healthy Congregation Tips: Be a Brave Messenger

It's not always easy to be a messenger of hope, but take heart, friends. We can practice here with each other, and then go forth.

Tip: Be the brave and forthright messenger of hope for the whole of the human family.

Reflection: The early Universalists said, pure and simple, that every human being, no matter how strange or flawed or unlovable or broken or weird they may seem, is to be protected, cherished, welcomed, loved. We must speak and live and share the generous heart of Universalism.

Source: Scott W. Alexander, Salted with Fire

